A REAL MESSAGE DELIVERED HERE BY DR. BARKER

FOUR LARGELY ATTENDED LECTURES GIVEN

Parents Appreciate Address by Famous Doctor. Rotarians Responsible for Appearance.

Dr. Charles E. Barker, private physician to Ex-President Taft during his incumbency as President of the United States and for several years thereafter, and now appearing on the lecture platform and traveling throughout the United States and Canada, spreading a worthwhile message under the auspices of Rotary International, addressed the people of Chaffey District in four meetings yesterday.

His morning address was given to the pupils of Chaffey Union High School and Junior College.

Dr. Barker took a particularly strong stand against "petting parties" and handled his subject in such a manner as to appeal strongly to the girls and boys who listened to him.

At noon at the Casa Blanca Hotel, Ontario, Dr. Barker addressed the members of the Rotary Clubs of Ontario and Upland and their guests and members of the Ontario Lions Club, bringing out most forcibly the aim of the service clubs in getting into business the idea of the golden rule. "Straightforward dealing in business should be the aim of every business man," said Dr. Barker, "in days gone by they said you couldn't make a financial success of business with the golden rule as a basis, but a lot of business men are proving today that it can be done."

Dr. Barker is a preacher of a new type for he said, "When you and I take a trip to Europe we have a schedule, we know at what hour we leave here, we know what day we arrive at New York, we know at what day and hour we arrive at Liverpool, and in our various trips through the old country we make it a point to study that schedule.

"A lot of you men here today are traveling through this life without a schedule. You are on your way. You are making money which you can't take out of this world with you, and your destination you know not because you haven't studied the schedule. Get out in this world, do the other fellow a good turn, help your neighbor, help those who work for you and some day you will arrive at the destination, that a lot of folks are going to miss, while a few others are only going to get in by the skin of their teeth."

In the afternoon Dr. Barker talked to the mothers of this section at Chaffey Auditorium on, "A Mother's Relation to Her Daughter." In the evening Dr. Barker addressed the fathers on "A Father's Responibility to His Son," and drove home his arguments straight from the shoulder stating that it was time parents took on the responsibility of advising their children before it was too late. Boys and girls need to be told about themselves and about life as it is, instead of being allowed to drift into experiences that bring them unhappiness, illness and then death.

OVERDONE

It was a tavern where a newly-arrived commercial traveler was holding forth. "I'll bet anyone five dollars," he said, "that I have got the hardest name of anyone in this room."

An old farmer in the background shifted his feet to a warmer part of the fender.

"We will, will ye?" he drawled. "Well, I'll take ye one. I'll bet ye ten agin your five that my name'll beat yours."

"Done!" cried the commercial traveler. "I've got the hardest name in the country. It is Stone."

The old man took a chew of his tobacco. "Mine," he said, "is Harder."

ANNEXATION IS SUBJECT BEFORE EAST END ASS'N

THOSE FOR AND AGAINST HAVE MANY SIDES TO DISCUSS

Joining City Is Only Way To Make East End a Desirable Place in Which to Build.

East Side Improvement Association held its regular meeting last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Strawn on Cucamonga avenue, annexation to the city of Upland being one of the important subjects discussed at the meeting.

Although there are only about twenty votes to be cast to decide the issue there is much activity in the section to be annexed and red hot arguments surge back and forth between the two factions.

The annexationists are firm in the opinion that annexation to the city is the only hope for an improved condition in that section, for improvements must be had along a systematic procedure before the east end can become an ideal place in which to live.

Anti-annexationists are working hard to defeat the issue. The election is to be held on Tuesday the officers of election being as follows: B. A. Eckman and H. E. MciKnney, judges; Mabel Paquin, inspector. Polling place is to be at the garage of Wm. Estes, 1510 East Ninth Street, and the polls are to be open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m.

The territory which voters are considering annexing to the city of Upland is as follows: Beginning at the intersection of the North line of the right of way of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Co., and the West line of Lot 8, in Section 8, Township 1 south, Range 7 west, S. B. B. & M., as said lot is shown upon the map of Cucamonga Lands, as said map appears of record in Book 4 of Maps, page 9 thereof, records of said county, said point of beginning being the Southeast corner of the present exterior boundaries of said City of Upland; thence southeasterly along the north line of said railway company's right of way to the point where said north line intersects the east line of said Lot 8; thence north to the northeast corner of Lot 1, in said Section 8; thence west along the north line of said Lot 1 to the northwest corner of said Lot 1; thence south to the point of beginning.

CHAFFEY TIGERS TRIMMED POMONA CARDINALS

In a fast and exciting game of basketball, played on the Chaffey gym court, the Tigers kept themselves in the league race by trimming the Pomona Cardinals by a score of 21-16. It was the ability of the Tigers to "take it" and still come back fighting harder than ever which finally netted them the victory, as the game was won in the last few minutes of play. The Cardinals led at half-time with a score of 8 to 5, and in the second half kept the scoring on even terms until there were only a few minutes left to play, when French and Pierce broke away in a final spurt and added the winning points while Pomona was kept at a safe distance from the net.

As usual, Jack Hill was the Cardinals' mainstay, and he was high man for the night with 10 points to his credit.

As a result of the match Chaffey still has a fighting chance for the championship of the C. B. L. A win tonight at Riverside would put them in line for a probable three-cornered tie with Riverside and San Bernardino.

Following is the standing of the league:

	W.	L.	P.C.
Riverside	4	2	.667
San Bernardino	4	2	.667
Chaffey	4	3	.571
Redlands	3	4	.428
Pomona	1	5	.166

GEORGE WASHINGTON

Born, Feb. 22nd, 1732. Died, 1799

The character of Washington is a fixed star in the firmament of great names, shining without twinkling or obscurity, with clear, steady, beneficent light. It is associated and blended with all our reflections on those things which are near and dear to us. If we think of the independence of our country, we think of him who was so prominent in achieving it; if we think of the Constitution which is over us, we think of him who did so much to establish it, and whose administration of its powers is acknowledged to be a model for his successors. If we think of glory in the field, of wisdom in the cabinet, of the purest patriotism, of the highest integrity, public and private, of morals without a stain, of religious feelings without intolerance and without extravagance, the august figure of Washington presents itself as the personification of all these ideas.—Daniel Webster.

RICHARSON BUILDS WONDER RANCH IN VICTOR VALLEY

HOTPOINT GENIUS ALSO SUCCESSFUL AS FARMER

They Said It Couldn't Be Done And That's One Reason He Did It.

Extensive further development of the Adelanto district of the Victor Valley, famous for its fine Bartlett pears, apples and grapes, was seen in the announcement today that N. R. Turner has just given the Adelanto Fruit Company an option to purchase his ranch of several hundred acres, located west of the Mojave River, and four miles north of Victorville.

An abundant water supply is one of the outstanding features of this ranch and the Adelanto Fruit Company expects to begin work immediately investigating the opportunity for developing springs not now utilized on the Turner property, with the idea of placing such available surplus water on Adelanto lands, located three miles to the west.

Will Install Pumps and Reservoir

The proposed improvements as outlined by E. H. Richardson of the Adelanto Company, will include the installation of a pumping plant at the reservoir located on the Turner ranch, for the purpose of lifting the available surplus water approximately 200 feet through a steel and concrete pipe line which will connect with the present irrigating system at Adelanto. It is the intention of the liminary surveys and other engineering work can be accomplished, company to begin actual construction work on this as soon as prewith the expectation that this water will be available to Adelanto lands not later than July 1.

There are between 20 and 25 springs on the Turner ranch, located along the eastern edge of the west mesa, a quarter to a half mile west of the river and from 30 to 150 feet above the river.

INSTRUCTIONS WILL BE GIVEN TO ASSESSORS

Preparations Are Made For Securing Valuation Of County

Deputy assessors will be called into the office of County Assessor A. E. Allen, Friday, February 29, to receive instructions and information to govern them in the work of making the annual assessment of property starting Monday, March 3. If the conference does not conclude its work Friday the deputies will be held over the following day to finish receiving final instructions.

The assessment must be concluded and the roll turned in by the first Monday in July but Mr. Allen plans to have the roll ready by June first. The work promises to be unusually heavy this year as there has been an increase in every line. The additional number of new sub-divisions opened up, presents an enormous amount of extra work. No one outside the office really appreciates what a sub division means when it comes to making assessments.

In addition to the four regular assistants, Mr. Allen will soon name 12 deputies to work for a month or so during the rush of the work.

It is a large county and it has a big assessment. The total for 1923 was $59,903,285. It is expected that this amount will be greatly increased this year as there has been phenomenal gains in the value of the city property especially in San Bernardino.

The highest, the divine wisdom consists in having investigated and mastered the innermost nature of all that pertains to mankind, in being surprised at nothing which happens, and in believing, before the event, that everything is possible.

MOUNTAIN LION IS KILLED NEAR CAMP BALDY

MALE AND FEMALE FEAST ON DEER CLOSE TO RANGER'S CABIN

Lioness Shot As It Plunges To Free Itself from Trap. Close Call for Hunter.

With its forefeet gradually slipping from the trap in which it had been caught, snarling and plunging as the excruciating pain shot through its body, J. D. Johnson of Camp Baldy shot and killed a mountain lioness yesterday forenoon near the mountain ranger's cabin below the hotel.

Wednesday a male and female killed a deer and dragged the carcas to a point just above the ranger's cabin, where they were found devouring the flesh. Rangers drove the two mountain lions away, and knowing they would return, placed traps about the body of the dead deer.

Early this morning the cries of the mountain lioness caught in the trap were heard, and Mr. Johnson went out to kill the beast. First shot failed to take effect, and only drove the beast to a frenzy. Rushing to his cabin, Mr. Johnson obtained a heavier calibre gun, and just as the lioness' forefeet were about to slip from the grip of the trap the animal dropped dead.

The carcass was brought to the sporting goods store of Roy Creighton here yesterday and hundreds have stopped there to view the first mountain lion killed in the vicinity of Camp Baldy for some time.

Rangers have again set the traps about the carcass, believing that the male will return, and hope in a day or two to capture him. The lioness measures 6½ feet.

It is not enough to possess virtue, as though it were an art, unless we use it. For although, if you do not practice an art you may retain it theoretically, the whole of virtue is centred in the exercise of virtue.

GEORGE E. FELTER NAMED SECRET'Y BY CHAFFEY BOARD

SUCCEEDS C. W. ALFORD WHO RECENTLY RESIGNED

Mr. Felter In Charge of Boy Scout and Y. M. C. A. Work In West End District..

George S. Felter, for two years secretary of the Long Beach Y. M. C. A., has been named by the Chaffey community board to succeed C. W. Alford as secretary of the Chaffey community boys' work organization.

Announcement that Mr. Felter will become head of the west end boy scouts and Y. M. C. A., work was made yesterday.

Committee Fortunate

The committee appointed, following Mr. Alford's resignation, to find a successor, feels fortunate and honored in having secured Mr. Felter for that important position, as he is highly recommended and well qualified to take up the task of directing boys' activities.

Not only has Mr. Felter held the position of leader of boys' work at Long Beach for two years, but he was also in charge of the Seeley Flats playground at Los Angeles, under supervision of the Los Angeles playground commission for one year.

Starts on March 1

Chaffey's new scout leader will take up his duties here the first of March. He will be assisted for some time by Mr. Hess, who was with Mr. Alford for several months and is prepared to start the new comer at the point where Alford left off. The resignation of Mr. Alford was accepted as he expressed a wish to devote more time to Y. M. C. A. work. He will establish his headquarters at San Pedro.

Chaffey High will continue to be headquarters for boy scout work. Mr. Felter has a family of three children.

RAILWAY ASKS COURT TO SET VERDICT ASIDE

PACIFIC ELECTRIC SEEKS A NEW TRIAL OF $50,000 DAMAGE SUIT

Attacking the jury's verdict awarding $50,000 damages to Hattie L. Irvin and Isabelle Wisley, widows of victims of a crossing accident, as "excessive" and "given under influence of passion and prejudice," attorneys representing the Pacific Electric Railway Wednesday began a fight to gain a new trial.

Incorporating the charges of prejudice in a motion for a new trial, the railway's counsel also contended that the verdict was contrary to law and that errors of law entered into the case. Representing the widows, Attorney A. W. Burt of Upland, upheld the $50,000 verdict as fair and just compensation to the widows for the loss of their husbands in a crash at Upland in November, 1922.

Case May Reach State Courts

Superior Judge Jesse Olney, before whom the damage case was heard three weeks ago, reserved his decision Wednesday in the motion for a new trial and to set the jury's verdict aside. It is probable that, if the judge denies the motion for a new trial, the case will reach the California District Court of Appeals, the railway apparently forecasting a lengthy legal battle before the case is at end.

Mrs. Irvin was awarded $20,000 and Mrs. Wisely $30,000 by the jury's verdict. It was claimed that both the dead men saw the fast Pacific Electric's San Bernardino-Los Angeles train approaching the crossing, but that it was traveling at an excessive rate of speed and they were unable to judge its velocity.

Judge Olney is expected to announce his decision in the motion for a new trial within two weeks.

WHO REMOVED TIN BOX FROM WALL OF SONTAG CABIN

CHESTER DEWEY INSISTS CAN LARGER THAN ONE FOUND

San Bernardino Index In Container Is Impressed on Mind of Builder of Stone House

Firm in the opinion that encased in the stone wall of the Sontag cabin located above the mouth of Cucamonga Canyon was a tin box containing papers, some of them valuable, placed there by Hugo Sontag when the little stone house was built in 1889, Chester Dewey made the trip to the cabin and endeavored to find the box.

Going farther down into the stone wall, Mr. Dewey was unable to locate the box and now believes that someone who knew the box was there removed it following the death of Hugo Sontag and placed in its stead the smaller tin can found late Sunday afternoon in the wall by Mr. Schuloff, owner of the Sontag ranch.

Mr. Dewey recalls the details of the day Mr. Sontag placed the box in the wall and remembers seeing him place a copy of the San Bernardino Index in the box.

ATTORNEY ALLISON IS CANDIDATE FOR SUPERIOR COURT

WELL KNOWN GATE CITY LAWYER TO OPPOSE JUDGE OLNEY

Two Elections for Judgeships Scheduled for Coming Election in This County.

Charles L. Allison, widely known attorney of San Bernardino, yesterday announced his candidacy for election to the superior court. The primary will be in August and the election in November.

Mr. Allison made no formal statement, merely letting it be known that he is a candidate. Report of Mr. Allison's candidacy became current after he had visited Judge Jesse Olney, and as is customary in judicial contests, informing him that he would be a candidate. Judge Olney also expects to be a candidate.

The place on the bench for which Mr. Allison will file his nomination papers is the unexpired term of Judge J. W. Curtis in department one. This is the place held by the late Judge Frank B. Daley, appointment on the promotion of Judge Curtis to the appellate bench, and now occupied by Judge Olney. There are nearly three years remaining in this term.

Whether there will be other candidates is not yet known.

Mr. Allison is one of the foremost members of the legal profession in San Bernardino county and has been a resident of San Bernardino many years. He served San Bernardino a number of years ago as city attorney. He has an extensive civil practice.

There will be two elections for the judgeship this year, the regular term in department two, held by Judge B. F. Warmer of Ontario, expiring. It is the understanding by Judge Warmer's friends that he will be a candidate to succeed himself. There has been no mention of other candidates for this place.

ANAHEIM COUPLE MARRIED HERE

A quiet wedding ceremony was performed last Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, when the Rev. C. A. Kent officiated at the marriage of Harold S. Brooman and Alberta Narcissus Prather, both of Anaheim. The wedding took place in the Methodist parsonage.

HEAVY FREIGHT TRAFFIC SHOWS BUSINESS GOOD

RECORD BREAKING YEAR PROPHESIED FOR RAILWAYS

Full Shop Employment Program Indicated by Preparations of Santa Fe Officials

Unprecedented increase in the volume of freight traffic during the first half of this month is serving as a criterion for another banner railroad year, it was predicted by Santa Fe officials of the traffic department yesterday.

Every indication points to the fact that the high records of 1923 will be eclipsed this year, according to W. S. Cunningham, traveling freight agent.

With eighty switchmen and brakemen employed in the San Bernardino yards, the largest number of men ever employed for this work is on this yard's payroll.

During the past week 13 switch engines have been in daily service, an increase over the motive power required to handle the Santa Fe freight business in the joint yards for the comparable period of last year.

70 Trains Daily Enter Yard

From 60 to 70 freight trains arrive here, are either assembled for departing trains or leave with additional cars picked up at this point every day, according to reports covering the first two weeks of February, it was said. This represents a total of approximately 2,000 to 2,500 cars handled by yards crew in San Bernardino every 24 hours. Of this number the Santa Fe operates nearly 50 trains daily, while the Union Pacific, using the joint yards, makes up the balance of the heavy traffic.

Citrus fruit shipments for eastern markets are at the present time making up the major part of the shipping, although it is claimed that westbound dead freight, such as merchandise, machinery, automobiles and household goods are showing a strong upward trend and that the preferred freight consists almost entirely of building materials.

Passenger Travel Still Heavy

The continued increase in the passenger travel is also termed as an indication of continued railroad prosperity. Three sections of the California Limited from Chicago which were scheduled for the months of December of last year and January, will be continued throughout this month and probably until the first week of March, according to traffic department officials. This will be the longest period in which three sections of the California Limited have been scheduled, it was claimed.

These early indications of traffic growth, with the first units of the large shop improvement plan nearing completion forecast shop employment to full capacity at an early date.

BRYANT TO GIVE FURNITURE AWAY

On July 2nd someone in this section is going to be especially happy, for on that date Bryant's Meat Market is going to award to the holder of the lucky number a complete dining set of a dining table and four chairs of the latest type and of black walnut.

This issue announces the July Celebration Sale of Bryant's Market. Starting tomorrow morning, with every 25c worth of goods you buy a numbered ticket is to be given you. Retain these tickets until the big drawing, July 2nd, and yau may have the lucky number.

A second prize will be awarded to the holder of the second lucky number, and a third prize will go to the patron of Bryant's Market who has the largest number of tickets.

CONSTRUCTION BEGUN ON ROAD ACROSS DESERT

NEW 125-MILE ROUTE LINKING ARROWHEAD TRAILS WILL BE BUILT

Construction work on the 125-mile road across the desert from Yermo to the Nevada line, a new link in the Arrowhead Trails Route costing $25,000, began early this week under supervision of County Highway Commissioner James W. Cole.

The road will cut 95 miles off the transcontinental route east via Salt Lake City and will penetrate a vast district of the desert, now impassable to travelers. There are numerous water holes along the route, however, and when grading work is finished, the road will probably be taken over by the state and government highway bureaus for maintenance.

Connecting with the road at Yermo, the new route follows an old trail across the desert, along the Union Pacific Railway to Field, then north and east to Cronese Lake to Baker, a station on the Tidewater & Tonopah Railway. From Baker, the route will lead to Halloran Springs, to Valley Wells, Mexican Wells and to the Nevada line at Ivanpah Lake, where it crosses into Nevada. State officials of Nevada have pledged an appropriation to build a road linking with the Arrowhead Trails Route.

The road now used to Salt Lake City is across the desert on the National Old Trails Route to Goffs and thence north, a distance of 220 miles in San Bernardino County. The Board of Supervisors has appropriated $25,000 for the grading of the new route, which will eventually become an important link in another transcontinental motor route bringing travel into San Bernardino County. Although the $25,000 appropriation will be spent in grading work making the old trail passable, it is virtually assured that state and government aid will be forthcoming for further development work.

A crew of 20 men is at work on the road with teams and a caterpillar tractor on the road.

FRIDAY FEBRUARY 22, 1924.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

GEORGE WASHINGTON, first president of the United States will always remain the ideal hero of the younger generations. His vision of a great country has been realized by the people of today, and those fond of tracing "back to the beginning of things" clearly see how his wise counsel and steady foresight paved the way for those coming after, who did things for the benefit of the country and not for any selfish ends of their own.

In the present day one hears a lot about graft and it is the custom to attribute unworthy motives to any one who starts an enterprise intended for the help of others. One thinks "H'm they may be willing to help humanity at large but they probably have some axe of their own to grind too. Wait and see." People said that about Washington, that he wanted the power, being head of a new country would give him, that he desired the pomp and glory naturally resulting from the position he would hold if his armies won, but Washington sailed calmly on and came into port with colors flying. After a hundred and forty years he is still regarded as the one man who could and did so successfully not only start a new country, but who by his clear-headedness lay down a series of rules that have proved invaluable to those following in his footsteps and endeavoring to hold to his ideals in the development of the United States.

Regulation Of Billboards

THE current controversy over the power to regulate the erection and display of billboards along public highways is invested with a certain piquant emphasis by the fact that Massachusetts is being looked to by other and far distant peoples as an exemplar in the case; notably in France, despite the supposition of Laurence Sterne that "they order this matter better" there. The peasants and innkeepers of Normandy and the Basques, "fragments of forgotten peoples," on the slopes of the Pyrenees, object to having their picturesque scenery, beloved of artists and tourists, disfigured with hideous advertising signs, and they have caused their senators at Paris to introduce a measure providing the desired protection; in urging the enactment of which the example of Massachusetts is often cited. There will be those who will think that thus too much credit is given to this state. Certainly it will be held that at any rate we must take no backward step from the position thus imputed to us, but rather must "make good" and live up to our reputation.

There must indeed be general agreement, save, of course, by those sordidly interested in the very abuse which it is sought to abate, that the public is entitled to protection from offenses to the eye. The senses must be respected. It would be intolerable to flavor our drinking water with something which, while quite innocuous to health, gave it an unpleasant taste. Unnecessary noises which distress the ear and rack the nerves, and odors which sicken the sense of smell, are rightly regarded as nuisances. No less objectionable are unnecessary structures or displays which obstruct the vision and offend the sight.

Nor are such things to be condemned only in places of exceptional beauty or grandeur, or along what are regarded as scenic highways. In such places prohibition of defacement is obviously imperative. But the senses and tastes have equal right to protection elsewhere. The public traveling along even the least picturesque and most commonplace roads, and people dwelling in places quite devoid of scenic distinction, are entitled to exemption from all things that would unnecessarily affront them or annoy them.. A community whose seat amid scenery of picturesque charm is perhaps its chief asset, may well claim for that priceless possession protection against impairment. But one lacking such natural endowment may as legitimately claim the right to make the best of its meagre resources of scenery and not have them needlessly despoiled.

Whether such regulation should be a state or a local function is a question proper for debate. From one point of view, the whole state is interested in the scenery of every part of it. Certainly it seems to be logical for the state to have authority over the steadily increasing extent of state roads, for their adornment and for their protection from misfigurement. Obviously too, it is highly desirable to have uniformity of practice throughout the state, so that travelers will not find one town free from and the next town cursed with billboard abominations. Nor is it to be overlooked that only through state control can the people at the margin of one town be protected against signs in the adjacent town which may be just as directly offensive to them as though they were in their own. On the other hand, it seems intolerable that a town which wants to protect itself against nuisances should be unable to do so simply because the state will not take action in the matter.

Probably the ideal arrangement would be for the state to have an effective law, for general application; and then for the individual towns to have the privilege of adopting additional ordinances, increasing if they wish, but never subtracting from the stringency of the state law.

Outlook For Business Is Good

HERE is one more of many indications that the business outlook is good: Railroads, so far this year, have been moving considerably more freight than in the corresponding period of last year or the year before. This means that merchants, manufacturers and builders are preparing for a busy spring. There'll probably be plenty of money circulating. But most of us will have as hard a time as ever, corralling our share.

We're steadily making headway with our campaign to get more of South America's orders in the world market. Figures just announced show in 1923 our country sold South America 269 million dollars worth of goods, compared with 226 millions the year before. Optimists will see in this a big gain. Skepties will wonder how much of the gain represents higher selling prices instead of larger orders.

We bought, from her, nearly 467 million dollars worth of her exports in 1923, or almost a third more than the year before. For every $269 worth of goods we sold South America, she sold us $467.

FAMILIAR POEMS

WASHINGTON

Land of the West! though passing brief the record of thino age
Thou hast a name that darkens all on history's wide page.
Let all the blasts of fame ring out,—thine shall be loudest far;
Let others boast their satellites,—thou hast the planet-star.
Thou hast a name whose characters of light shall ne'er depart;
'Tis stamped upon the dullest brain, and warms the coldest heart;
A war-cry fit for any land where freedom's to be won;
Land of the West! it stands alone, —it is thy Washington.

Rome had its Caesar, great and brave; but stain was on his wreath;
He liv'd the heartless conqueror, and died the tyrant's death.
France had its eagle; but his wings, though lofty they might soar,
Were spread in false ambition's flight, and dipp'd in murder's gore.
Those hero-gods, whose mighty sway would fain have chain'd the waves;
Who flesh'd their blades with tiger zeal, to make a world of slaves;
Who, though their kindred barr'd the path, still fiercely waded on;
O, where shall be their "glory" by the side of Washington?

He fought, but not with love of strife; he struck, but to defend;
And ere he turn'd a people's foe, he sought to be a friend.
He strove to keep his country's right by reason's gentle word,
And sighed when fell injustice threw the challenge,—sword to sword;
He stood the firm, the calm, the wise, the patriot and sage;
He showed no deep avenging hate, —no burst of despot rage;
He stood for Liberty and Truth, and dauntlessly led on,
Till shouts of victory gave forth the name of Washington.

No car of triumph bore him through a city fill'd with grief;
No groaning captives at the wheels proclaim'd him victor chief;
He broke the gyves of slavery with strong and high disdain,
And forged no scepter from the links, when he had crushed the chain.
He saved his land; but did not lay his soldier trappings down,
To change them for the regal vest, and "don" a kingly crown.
Fame was too earnest in her joy, —too proud of such a son,—
To let a robe and title mask a noble Washington!

England, my heart is truly thine, my loved, my native earth!
The land that hold's a mother's grave, and gave that mother birth.
O, keenly sad would be the fate that thrust me from thy shore,
And faltering my breath that sighed, "Farewell for evermore!"
But did I meet such adverse lot, I would not seek to dwell
Where olden heroes wrought the deeds for Homer's songs to tell.
"Away, thou gallant ship!" I'd cry, "and bear me swiftly on;
But bear me from my own fair land to that of Washington."
—Eliza Cook

STAR SPANGLED BANNER

Oh, say can you see, by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed at the twilight's last gleaming,
Whose broad stripes and bright stars, thro' the perilous night
O'er the ramparts we watched were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thro' the night that our flag was still there.
Oh, say does that star spangled banner yet wave,
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave?

On the shore dimly seen thro' the mists of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze o'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, half conceals, half discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected, now shines on the stream.
'Tis the star spangled banner, oh, long may it wave,
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

And where is that band, that so vauntingly swore
That the havoc of war and the battle's confusion
A home and a country should leave us no more?
Their blood has washed out their foul footsteps' pollution.
No refuge could save the hireling and slave,
From the terror of death and the gloom of the grave.
And the star spangled banner in triumph shall wave,
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

Oh, thus be it ever when freemen shall stand,
Between their loved homes and foul war's desolation;
Blest with victory and peace, may the heaven rescued
Praise the power that hath made and preserved us a nation!
Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just,
And this be our motto: "In God is our trust!"
And the star spangled banner in triumph shall wave,
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave.

STAMM TO STAR IN A NEW ROLE

"A Successful Calamity," clever comedy by Clare Kummer, which The Community Players are to present at Chaffey Auditorium Friday and Saturday evenings as the second offering of their present season, promises to be one of the most enjoyable plays ever given by this organization.

The play is being produced under the direction of Walter W. Eyler, a man of wide experience in these lines, and a particularly fine cast has been selected to handle the various roles.

George T. Stamm, who did such good work in Booth Tarkington's "Clarence" last season, is to appear as Wilton, the role created by William Gillette on the professional stage a few seasons ago.

Miss Georgene Godsave, who has always scored heavily in Chaffey High School and Junior College dramatic productions, has an excellent part as Marguerite, Wilton's daughter. Miss Vera Wells, who has also appeared to excellent advantage in local dramatic productions, is to be seen as Emmie, Wilton's second wife, young and charming. P. H. Crist, who was a member of the "Seven Keys to Baldpate" cast two seasons ago, has the part of Connors, the faithful butler, and promises to make a hit.

Miss Rosamond Stokes has a clever bit as Albertine, the French maid, which she gives promise of handling with real artistry. William Reed is splendidly cast as Eddie, Wilton's son, and James L. Kiely and Russel Lewis will do good work as George and Clarence, respectively.

Although Donald E. Hill consented to take the part of Rafaelo, the Italian portrait painter, only a few days ago, when the man originally cast for the role found it impossible to continue, he promises to give a good interpretation of it. Miss Esther Wright has some good lines in the role of Julie, which she will make the most of. Wesley Todd will be seen as Belden, Wilton's partner, and Marion Grothe will do the doctor.

Mrs. J. S. Ingalls is chairman of the property committee and will be assisted by Mrs. Amy M. Huntoon and Mrs. Leonard B. Fowler. Mrs. E. Blake Draper is at the head of the costume committee. The Community Orchestra, under the direction of Fred Wilding, Jr., will furnish music.

A quaint story is told to exemplify the pride that every man should take in the work by which he makes a living:

Two street sweepers, seated on a curbstone, were discussing a comrade who had died the day before.

"Bill certainly was a good sweeper," said one.

"Y-e-s," conceded the other, thoughtfully. "But don't you think he was a little weak around the lamp posts?"

INCOME TAX IN REALTY SALES IS EXPLAINED

REVENUE COLLECTOR ISSUES ANNOUNCEMENT IN ORDER TO SIMPLIFY ITEMS

In order to simplify the items of tax payments relating to the gain or loss realized from the sale of real estate, Collector of Internal Revenue Rex B. Goodcell issued an announcement which contains the details of tax payments on real estate transactions. As a general dule, according to Collector Goodcell, where 25 per cent or more of the sales price of real estate is received during the year of sale, the same shall be treated as a closed transaction in the year in which the deal was consummated and tax paid upon the profit realized. The following is an example of a closed transaction:

A piece of property was sold for $10,000, the purchaser paying $3,000 cash and assuming a mortgage of $4,500, executing a second mortgage or trust deed in favor of the seller for the balance, payable in three years. Assuming that this piece of property had cost the taxpayer $6,000, he would have a taxable profit of $4,000, excluding any reconciliation for depreciation. Should the second mortgage or trust deed be discounted in any future year, the difference between the amount reported and the amount received therefore would be deductable as a loss.

Two Classes of Plans

Collector Goodcell invited attention to that part of Article 44, Regulations 62, relating to installment transactions, which reads:

"Article 44. Sale of real estate involving deferred payments. Deferred payment sales of real estate ordinarily fall into two classes when considered with respect to the terms of sals, as follows:

(1) "Installment transactions, in which the initial payment is relatively small (generally less than one-fourth of the purchase price) and the deferred payments usually numerous and of small amount. They include (a) sales where there is immediate transfer of title when a small initial payment is made, the seller being protected by a mortgage or other lien as to deferred payments, and (b) agreements of purchase and sale which contemplate that a conveyance is not to be made at the outset, but only after all or a substantial portion of the alleged installments have been made.

Deferred Payment Sale

"(2) Deferred payment sales not on the installment plan, in which there is a substantial initial payment (ordinarily not less than one-fourth of the purchase price), deferred payments being secured by a mortgage or other lien. Such sales are distinguished from sales on the installment plan by the substantial character of the initial payment and also usually by a relatively small number of deferred payments.

"In determining how these classes shall be treated in levying the income tax, the question in such case is whether the income to be reported for taxation shall be based only on amounts actually received in a taxing year, or on the entire consideration made up in part of agreements to pay in the future.

"Article 45. Sale of real estate on installment—In the two kinds of transactions included in class (1) in the foregoing article, installment obligations assumed by the buyer are not ordinarily to be regarded as having a readily realizable market value and the vender may report as his income from such transactions in any year that proportion of each payment actually received in that year which the gross profit to be realized when the property is paid for bears to the gross contract price.

Default of Buyer

If the return is made on this basis and the vender repossesses the property after default by the buyer, retaining the previous payments, the entire amount of such payments, less the profit previously returned, will be income to the vendor and will be so returned for the year in which the property was repossessed, and the property repossessed must be included in the inventory at its original cost to himself (less any depreciation as defined in Articles 161 and 162.) If the taxpayer chooses as a matter of settled practice consistently followed to treat the obligations of the purchaser as having a readily realizable market value and to report the profit derived from the entire consideration, cash and deferred payments, as income for the year when the sale is made, this is permissable. If so treated, the rule prescribed in Article 46 will apply."

The collector stated that many taxpayers seem to be under the erroneous impression that if the initial payment is 25 per cent or less the sale is an installment transaction, and that the taxpayer may report the proportional part of the profit included in the amount received during the year, even though the balance is to be paid within a period of three or four years.

Impression Incorrect

This impression is incorrect, as the regulations provide that not only must the initial payment be 25 per cent or less, but also that the deferred payments "shall be numerous and of small amount." In view of the nature of the questions received by Collector Goodcell on this subject, it is evident that many taxpayers are not taking into consideration the period within which the balance of payments are to be made. For example: A taxpayer sold a vacant lot for $10,000, receiving $2,000 cash and a mortgage or other lien, payable in four years. Assuming that this lost cost the taxpayer $5,000, there would be realized upon the final payment a profit of $5,000. However, in the year in which the first payment was received there would be no gain to be reported by the taxpayer, providing the mortgage or other lien taken as security for payment of the balance of $8,000 had no readily realizable market value. Such security would be presumed to have no "readily realizable market value" if it were necessary to sell it at an exorbitant rate of discount.

This would be a sale upon a deferred payment plan, as explained later, and not an installment transaction. The following is an example of an installment transaction upon which the taxpayer could report and pay tax upon the proportional part of the profit included in the amount received during the year within which the property was sold.

Concrete Example Cited

A taxpayer sold a vacant lot for $10,000 upon contract with the purchaser to pay $1,000 down and 1 per cent per month. Assuming that the taxpayer had received the initial payment and six monthly payments, he would have received during the year a total of $1,600; and, assuming that the cost had been $5,000, there would be represented in the amount received $800 profit and $800 would represent a return of the proportionate part of the cost of the property.

The collector stated that, in determining whether or not the taxpayer is entitled to report a sale upon an installment basis, the time within which the balance is to be paid and the size of the payments are more of a determining factor, and that the 25 per cent initial payment alone does not govern. In determining the percentage received as initial payment, the amount of existing mortgage assumed by the purchaser must also be considered (see first example), as the sale is one of the taxpayer's equity only. On installment transactions the taxpayer may, if he so desires, treat the sale as a closed transaction and pay the total tax due in the year of sale, provided this practice is consistently followed.

HAD NO FUNDS IN THE BANK

William Relph, age 45, proprietor of an Ontario garage at A Street and Miramonte Avenue, Ontario, and a resident of Alta Loma, was Wednesday afternoon turned over to Huntington Park officers and taken back to that city, where he is wanted on a felony complaint charging him with issuing a check without sufficient funds in the bank.

Relph was arrested this morning by Officer Leon Mengle at A Street and Euclid Avenue upon instructions from Huntington Park authorities. The complaint against the Ontario garage man was sworn to by J. Wade Wilson of Huntington Park.

Relph's bail was fixed at $1,500. He was taken before Judge George R. Holbrook in an effoft to arrange it, but when he was unable to do so was taken by the Huntington Park officers.

New Business Building

Assurance of an important addition to the city's business district was seen yesterday afternoon in the announcement of Banta & Smith, Ford motor car dealers, that they are immediately to erect a commodious building at the northwest corner of A Street and Fern Avenue to house their complete garage and salesrooms at a cost of $30,000.

The building is to occupy a space of 145 by 120 feet, according to H. B. Banta of the motor firm, and will be of reinforced concrete construction, with steel trusses used throughout instead of wood.

The salesroom of the new building will be fitted most attractively and will occupy a space 30 by 70 feet. Over a portion of this room will be a mezzanine floor, which will be occupied by the firm offices. Indirect lighting will be employed in the salesroom.

The new building is declared necessitated by the expansion of the business of Banta & Smith. During the last two years it is said, the parts business of the company has trebled and the shop business more than doubled, with the result that it has been found impossible properly to care for it in the present quarters, A Street and Laurel Avenue.

In the new building the local dealers will be able to continue to receive their cars in direct factory shipments, doing the assembling in Ontario, instead of getting them through a Los Angeles assembling house.

Contract for the new structure has been let to W. E. Chantry, and it is expected that it will be ready for occupancy in June.

Realtor Succumbs

Edward Beardsley Chapin, prominent Ontario realtor and orange grower, died Tuesday night at his home, 204 West G Street, following a major operation and an illness of several months. He was 61 years of age and had resided in Ontario for 14 years.

Mr. Chapin is survived by his widow and one daughter, Miss Helen Chapin, and by a brother and sister, Dr. A. R. Chapin and Mrs. Carrie Harris of this city.

Funeral services for Mr. Chapin were held yesterday afternoon at the Richardson funeral home, 530 West A Street, with the Rev. John Barron Toomay, pastor of Bethel Congregational Church, and Dr. Bert Foster, rector of St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Upland, officiating. Interment was in Bellevue Cemetery.

Sent to Hospital

W. E. Daniels, who was placed in a cell at the city jail Saturday at his own request, when he walked into police headquarters to announce that he did not know who he was or how he got here, was yesterday sent to the general hospital at San Bernardino upon instructions from a brother in Denver, Colo., with whom Ontario officers were finally able to get in communication.

When Daniels entered the police station he had a partially full bottle of whiskey in one pocket and a Bible in another. He at first could tell nothing of himself, but finally recalled that he had a brother in the Colorado city.

Chief of Police W. O. Hardy sent a night letter to the brother, Dr. R. R. Daniels, and Wednesday received the following reply:

"Should be placed in state institution for rest. Probably normal in three months."

CHEAP DIME-AND

Spud Murphy, baby water-tender of the U. S. S. Connecticut, with a displacement of some 250 pounds, advertised the fact that he wanted to sell a "di'mond pin for fifty cents." There were plenty of bidders.

So Spud fished in his pocket and produced a silver dime and a pin.

He got the half.

MISS RUTH MILLIKEN HOSTESS AT SYCAMORES—

Miss Ruth Milliken of Cucamonga entertained the Wednesday Bridge Club at the Sycamores that afternoon at a very delightful affair.

At the close of the card tournament, which occupied the early hours of the afternoon, a luncheon was served in the dining room, the tables being more than usually attractive in their appointments.

The color effect was carried out in pastel shades of pink and lavender with a great ball of sweet peas for a centerpiece, while favors of fluffy Martha Washington dolls marked covers for the guests.

The menu also followed the season's motif in unique fashion with individual cherry pies as the piece de resistance.

A delightful afternoon was spent by members of the Neighborhood Club on Wednesday, when they were guests of Mrs. Frank Van Natta and Mrs. John H. Tracy at the home of the former on Euclid Avenue and Sixteenth Street.

Baskets of lovely spring blossoms added to the attractiveness of the rooms, and following an informal social afternoon the hostesses were assisted in dispensing hospitality by Mrs. W. E. Boulton, who presided over the tea and coffee urns and Mrs. Harlow S. Wilson, who served ice cream.

Guests of the afternoon were Mrs. F. Perhamus of Caledonia, New York; Mrs. H. Bendixen, Minnesota; Mrs. James Vernon, Virginia, and Mrs. F. Cherrington, the latter a daughter of Mrs. Van Natta, who is spending the winter here from the east. Members included Mrs. George Hall, Mrs. Kirk Vernon, Mrs. H. G. Koster, Mrs. R. F. Lemon, Mrs. C. E. Corry, Mrs. C. V. Barr, Mrs. Thos. W. Nisbet, Mrs. A. B. Whitney, Mrs. George T. Stamm, Mrs. Carlos S. Lawson.

MR. AND MRS. IRVING KLINDT RETURN FROM WEDDING TRIP

Irving Klindt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Klindt, and Miss Edith Smith, of this city, who stole a march on their friends and were married two weeks ago at Santa Ana, have returned from a delightful motor trip through northern California, into Nevada and Old Mexico, and are now settled in their new home on Third Avenue and C Street.

Mrs. Klindt, who came here from Oklahoma a few months ago, is well-known among a large circle of acquaintances, and the young couple were happily chivaried a few night ago by a number of friends who came to wish them every possible happiness in their new life.

SOCIAL EVENING FOR BUSINESS WOMEN—

The social committee of the Upland Business and Professional Woman's Club have arranged a delightful program for the members and their friends who are planning to attend next Tuesday evening.

The place is The Sycamores and the time eight o'clock. Those having no means of transportation are asked to be at the Upland Library between half-past seven and eight when cars will be there to take them to The Sycamores.

Any members who wish to take guests are privileged to do so, but they are asked to notify Mrs. H. O. Blohm not later than Monday afternoon, as all reservations must be turned in to the hotel management that night.

DINNER PARTY AT THE COUNTRY CLUB—

Prominent among the pre-Lenten affairs being given in Upland society this week was the delightful dinner and card party by Mrs. Harriet Grey and Miss Aurelia S. Harwood, who were joint hostesses last night at the Red Hill Country Club.

Covers were marked for sixty guests at the dining table, which was charmingly attractive with baskets of violets and jonquils, and following the excellent menu, bridge and mah jongg were enjoyed by the guests for the remainder of the evening.

Honors in bridge fell to Mrs. John Awdrey Armstrong, Mrs. John Herbert Tracy, Henry Eckstein, Jr., and Royal Miller, while Mrs. Albert Swift carried off the mah jongg prize.

The affair marked the first one to be given at the Red Hill Country Club under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Wayland, the new caterers who have recently taken charge, and the excellent care given speaks well for the continued success of the Country Club as a delightful place for members to entertain their friends.

MISS MARY TWEED HOSTESS—

Fourteen members of the Study Section of the Upland Woman's Club met on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Miss Mary Tweed to hear highly interesting papers on the State of Maine and Vermont by Mrs. W. F. Kitchel and Mrs. W. A. Getty. Owing to lack of time the third member on the program committee, Miss Ethel Leeke, was unable to deliver an address on New Hampshire, which will be given at a later date.

Mrs. Kitchel, who is a native of Maine, and who has lived there a great many years, gave a very instructive account of her state, and varied the historical facts with many stories and anecdotes of her own personal experience. Mrs. Getty's paper on Vermont was also listened to with intense pleasure. The writer had lived in Vermont for some time, and gave much valuable information regarding this state which, though small, has a wealth of history and folk lore to give.

The next meeting of the Study Section will be held at the home of Mrs. Miles Harnly on West Tenth Street, but the program on Tuesday, February 26th, at the Upland Woman's Club meeting, will be in charge of the Study Section also. Mrs. John D. Sanford will be the speaker and give some of her experiences in Washington, D.C., during the war period, when she was in government employ.

ENTERTAINS WITH BRIDGE TEA—

A delightful affair was given Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Carlos S. Lawson at her lovely home, Euclid Avenue and Thirteenth Street, when she entertained a group of women friends at a bridge tea.

Three tables were placed for the game, and favors for the afternoon play were given to Mrs. Horace Little, Mrs. James H. Black and Mrs. Donald E. Hill. Following the tournament, tea was served, Mrs. Lawson being assisted by Mrs. George T. Stamm.

The guest list included Mrs. C. E. Smith-Neill, Mrs. Clifford Little, Mrs. I. C. Baxter, Mrs. Herbert F. Bradburne, Mrs. Charles H. Wimpress, Mrs. Hill, Mrs. W. P. Tucker, Mrs. Black, Mrs. Frank Van Natta, Mrs. F. Charrington, Mrs. Arthur R. Hungerford, Mrs. Stamm, Mrs. Little.

CLUB SITES TO BE CONSIDERED TUESDAY—

At the next meeting of the Upland Woman's Club, which will be held at the Club Centre at the Y.M.C.A. Hall on Third Avenue next Tuesday, the building committee, Mrs. V. H. Wilson, chairman, will present several locations as sites for the new club house to the members. The committee has canvassed the town pretty thoroughly and have a number of locations to offer for the consideration of the members. Mrs. William Tuttle, president of the club, expresses a strong wish that all members turn out in full force.

The present club lot on the corner of Second Avenue and D Street, is too valuable to hold for club house purposes with the increasing trend of business towards the north. It has seemed the wisest proposition to sell the Second Avenue property at a figure that would partly pay for the club house, and use money on hand to purchase a cheaper lot which could be held until it is considered advisable to build.

GET YOUR NEW LICENSE PLATES

New motor vehicle license plates must be in place by March 1 or arrest of motorists will follow, according to information at the office of the Automobile Club of Southern California. The law states specifically that within 30 days from February 1 the new credentials must be obtained. This brings the closing date to March 1, which will be the last day the old plates may be legally carried.

Not only does the unprepared motorist face arrest, but will have to pay a penalty of 100 per cent if the license plates are not obtained before the closing hour of March 1.

"Get your new plates now" is the warning sent out by the Automobile Club of Southern California.

George Washington

It is fitting that we pause today in our tasks and reflect upon the genius, the leadership qualities, the perseverance of him who fought and won for this great nation its priceless Liberty—George Washington.

Confident that his was a just cause, though handicapped in many ways, his keen determination gained us our most cherished asset—Freedom. And as we honor his memory let us give thanks for the Prosperity and Exalted Position this nation enjoys—the direct result of Washington's greatness.

LARMORE RESIGNS REDLANDS OFFICE

George Larmore, former chief of police of Redlands who three months ago accepted appointment as county probation officer temporarily, has permanently accepted the office.

During the three-months period, Mr. Larmore was on a leave of absence from his position as chief of police of Redlands. Monday, he notified the City trustees of Redlands that he had resigned and yesterday stated that he had definitely accepted the county post. Mr. Larmores work as probation officer has been highly lauded by Superior Judge Benjamin F. Warmer, presiding court, and various county officers connected with the law enforcing agencies.

Mr. Larmore said yesterday he would probably move his family to San Bernardino at the expiration of the school year.

PIGEONS' WORTH IS ESTABLISHED

It was a story of far-sighted vision and confidence, tireless effort and final accomplishment in the face of ridicule and lock of co-operation that Capt. Ray R. Delhauer, well-known Ontarian and pigeon expert of the United States Army, recited Tuesday afternoon to the members of the Ontario Chamber of Commerce at their weekly forum luncheon at the Hotpoint Club, in telling of the establishment of the homing pigeon service in United States Army.

While Capt. Delhauer was not the first to recognize the need of such a service, he was the first to make any real headway in bringing about its accomplishment, and the present splendid pigeon service is due in very large measure to his perseverance in the face of all manner of odds.

The speaker, who has spent the greater part of his life in Ontario, told how pigeons had been his hobby since early childhood and how at the time of the trouble at the Mexican border shortly before America entered the World War, he established his own loft with the army at the border, but was rewarded with little but ridicule for his effort.

Capt. Delhauer was continually balked in his efforts to establish an adequate pigeon service by high officials in army circles who were in total ignorance of the value of such a service, and who vetoed all moves for its establishment, but finally, when Generals Pershing and Russell went overseas and recognized the need, cables from them to army headquarters here resulted in some real action.

One hundred and fifty pairs of the best breeding stock in Europe were secured by Col. Osman of the British pigeon service and sent to the country, and 50 pairs of these birds are now on the Pacific Coast. The United States Army pigeon service was only just beginning to get on a firm basis when the armistice was signed, according to Capt. Delhauer, but its merit has finally been recognized and it is an established fact. The speaker declared that the army pigeon service was self-supporting, the annual sale of birds amounting to thousands of dollars.

Capt. Delhauer told of the establishment of pigeon lofts at Camp Kearney during the war by himself privately, and told of the handicaps to local breeders through inability to secure feed as cheaply as it can be purchased in New York, although the feed for the most part is raised in Oregon and Washington and shipped out. The need of training pigeons to fly over the mountains of the west coast was touched on by the speaker.

Capt. Delhauer recited briefly the great value of pigeons to the Japanese during the recent earthquake disaster, and told also how the homers had been found to be the only sure means of communication in Panama during tropical storms. The pigeon service, the speaker asserted, is now completely "sold" to many military authorities, but some still scoff.

SANTA FE DAY AT ORANGE SHOW

Through the courtesy of General Manager R. H. Mack of the Fourteenth National Orange Show, in progress at San Bernardino, "Santa Fe Day" has been designated and will be celebrated on the closing day of the event, Monday, February 25th.

On that occasion a special program of music and other attractions will be put on, and several of the Santa Fe officials and a large number of employes will be in attendance, both in the afternoon and evening.

The San Bernardino Elk's Band will give a concert at the opening at 9 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. and in the evening several selections will be played. Through the co-operation of the Los Angeles and San Bernardino offices of the company, with Manager Mack and his directors, it is expected that the final day at this year's big show will materially swell the attendance and furnish a fitting finale to the best advertised and most complete citrus exhibition anywhere in the world.

The Santa Fe's exhibit will be specially decorated for the event, and everything worked out in keeping with the general scheme to make the observance of lasting good and impressive.

SAYS THIRD JUDGE NOT NEEDED YET

Figures and reports investigated by Governor Friend W. Richardson do not warrant a third Superior Court judge in San Bernardino County at the present time, it was declared by Governor Richardson during his two-day visit here last week. At the present San Bernardino County should get along very well with its two judges, the governor said.

"From figures which I have collected and investigated and investigations I have made of the work in the San Bernardino Superior Courts this county is not in need of another Superior Court judge at this time," the governor said.

"I know at times the work is rushed and the court calendars are crowded, but not to such an extent that it would warrant placing a third judge here. San Bernardino County has two Superior Court judges of which it can be proud and with both working to expedite the clearing of the calendars I believe they are sufficient. A time may come when three judges will be required, but I cannot believe it is here yet.

"The Superior Court, you know, is a state expense as well as a county. Therefore, I have taken considerable interest in the matter."

CUCAMONGA

LOCAL WATER COMPANIES ORGANIZE FOR PROTECTION OF WATER RIGHTS

At the call of the Cucamonga Water Company, a meeting of unusual interest and importance to the community at large, was held on Monday evening at the offices of the company on San Bernardino Road, representatives from five of the leading water companies of the district, the Cucamonga Water Company, the Sunset Water Company, the Old Settlers, the Famosa and Hermosa Water Companies, being present. The meeting was called for the purpose of discussing the advisability of forming a Protective Association for the preservation of the district's water rights in the mountains and nearby foothills. Without a dissenting vote, it was decided to form such an association, which will have as its chief object, the protection of the water rights in this district by conservation plans and other means to conserve the water for the Cucamonga-Alta Loma colony. J. Ralph Shoemaker, civil engineer and surveyor, for the Pomona Conservation District, as well as for the Cucamonga Water Company, who has been making a survey over the past year of the company's water-bearing properties, wells and local water situation in general, gave an enlightening report, advising what had been accomplished in the Pomona District and outling what should or ought to be done over here. By forming the nucleus of such a protective association, one of the most important steps in the promotion of civic affairs has been taken and should have the earnest backing and co-operation of every interested party in the Cucamonga-Alta Loma District.

The Second Food Sale held last Saturday at Billing's Grocery in Alta Loma, registered another big success for the local club-women and others who also contributed generously toward the wonderful good eats on display, all in the good cause, the furnishing of a room in the new Community Hospital. Credit for successful management of the affair is given to the committee in charge, Mrs. W. E. Morse, Mrs. M. J. Reid, Miss Gertrude Reid, Mrs. Chas. Beckley, and others; also a vote of thanks to Mr. Billings for the use of showroom and many other courtesies extended by him and his efficient clerical family. Plans for another sale to be held sometime in March at Cucamonga's Pharmacy, Geo. T. Morris, are on tap, as well as several entertainments to be given for the same worthy cause. Patrons of the sale who purchased pastry, are kindly requested to leave the pie tins at Billing's Grocery to be called for by owners.

Lee Haines, screen celebrity of Hollywood and typical cow-puncher of the old school, began his early Wild West career on the big Wyoming Cattle Ranch of W. E. Morse, who with Mrs. Morse, spend their winters at their orange grove home on Hellman Avenue, Cucamonga, and on Sunday last, in rides Mr. Haines, accompanied by a brother actor, to renew oldtime acquaintance with his former employer, Mr. Morse. Since leaving Wyoming, the cowboy joined the Buffalo Bill's Circus in a trip around the world, and now at the age of forty-two is one of the most daring of "stunt-performers" for the silver sheet, being connected with Universal Pictures, Inc. for the past year; previous to that, Mr. Haines had been with "Tom Mix and Pony," riding second for Mr. Mix in his hair-breadth escapades, and related many of his thrilling adventures, dare-devil acts such as the train-airplane rescues at 80 miles per, horse-jumping from cliffs, fair lady in arms; leaping from Balboa Bridge into deepest water and such every-day stunts as plunging through plate-glass windows, just simply nothing a-tall for this husky exponent of screen-thrills. His hosts were left fairly breathless at the conclusion of his exciting life story, but glad to hear once again from their old-time "cow-puncher" from old Wyoming.

CUCAMONGA WOMAN'S CLUB

As joint hostesses to the Cucamonga Woman's Club, Mrs. J. W. McKee and Mrs. A. C. Smithburn very enjoyably entertained at the foothill home of the former on north Hellman Avenue, Thursday afternoon last, some thirty members being in attendance.

With the president, Mrs. J. H. Williams in the chair, a lively discussion of current events featured the opening session. During a short business meeting, all members were urged to vote on the Bok Peace Plan and not to neglect to register for the coming elections. Members voted unanimously to apply for membership in the National Federation of Women's Clubs, and to contribute toward the California Biennial Fund for the entertainment of club-women attending the Biennial of the General Federation to be held in Los Angeles, June 3 to 13th inclusive. Two new members were added to the club register, Mrs. E. J. Statom and Mrs. Hugh H. Crawford, bringing the roll to 45.

A musical treat was in store for those present, Mrs. Statum, who possesses a voice of much sweetness, favored with several vocal selections, "Memory of You" and Hindu Slumber Song," which were greatly enjoyed. Mrs. W. Pinckney shared with us an amusing Valentine poem, composed by her daughter in honor of "mother's birthday."

Mrs. Williams then took up the subject of the afternoon, in line with the study program as arranged for the year, reviewing the history of our country in the light of our advanced and modern civilization, and incidthe close attention of all as she outlined in an interesting way, the opening events of the Revolutionary War, and by contrast or otherwise, the bearing it has on the history in making today. Her talk was enlightening and gave her hearers a clever and concise insight into some of the complicated events of the early history of the Revolution.

The social hour closed the enjoyable afternoon, the hostesses serving tempting refreshments, service trays carrying tiny red nut cups and miniature valentines in honor of the auspicious date, Feb. 14th.

The next meeting was announced for Thursday, Feb. 28th, at the home of Mrs. L. N. Pierce on State Highway, with Mrs. Chas. E. Bauer assisting. It is hoped that Prof. M. E. Hill, of Chaffey High, may be secured as the speaker of the afternoon, on the subject "Our Constitution."

NEVER AGAIN

A philanthropic lady visited an asylum not long ago and displayed great interest in the inmates. One old man particularly gained her compassion. "And how long have you been here, my man?" she inquired.

"Twelve years," was the answer.

"Do they treat you well?"

"Yes."

After addressing a few more questions to him the visitor passed on. She noticed a smile broadening on the face of her attendant, and on asking him the cause, heard with consternation that the old man was none other than the medical superintendent. She hurried back to make apologies. How successful she was may be gathered from these words: "I am sorry doctor. I will never be governed by appearances again."—Presbyterian Banner.

SKELETON HAS SIGNS OF BEING FOUND BEFORE

Coroner Hanna Says Bones Were Buried Several Months Ago

It has been established to the satisfaction of Coroner J. B. Hanna that the human bones found protruding from the ground near Needles recently and which were believed at the time to form the basis for another murder mystery in San Bernardino County, were those of the unidentified skeleton found on the desert several months ago and which were buried by Coroner Hanna and Constable James West of Needles.

When the report was received here of the discovery of the bones Coroner Hanna expressed the belief that the bones were those of the unidentified skeleton found some time ago and which were buried where they were found. The location in which the bones were found was almost the same as where the nameless skeleton was found.

Coroner Hanna got in touch with Justice of the Peace Marks, his deputy at Needles, and asked him to investigate the finding of the bones. The report has convinced the coroner that it was the same body.

The skeleton buried by the coroner had been lying underneath a bush for almost two years it is believed.

Eludes Highwaymen

E. O. Rippetoe, a carpenter residing at 317 Monterey Avenue, returning Wednesday evening by motor from Norco, where he is employed, with his pay envelope in his pocket, successfully eluded two highwaymen who attempted to hold him up on South Archibald Avenue, according to his report to the police.

Mr. Rippetoe was driving north on Archibald, about four miles to the southeast of the city, when two men stepped into the roadway and signalled him to stop. He at first thought they were merely asking for a ride, but as he slowed up, something in their attitude aroused his suspicions and he speeded up instead of stopping.

As the Ontarian speeded by, one of the men fired a shot at him with a revolver. He immediately came to police headquarters and reported his experience, but officers who went to investigate were unable to find any trace of the highwaymen.

Mr. Rippetoe is of the opinion that the men who attempted to hold him up were aware of the fact that Wednesday was pay day on the job he holds at Norco.

Washington Program

Pupils of the South Euclid Avenue School last night put on a splendid program in the auditorium of the institution in honor of Washington's Birthday.

"The House That Jack Built," a delightful little play containing a valuable health lesson, put on by the pupils of the Sixth Grade under the direction of Mrs. Lily McClennen, was an outstanding feature of the program.

There were three other playlets and a number of clever drills and pleasing song numbers. The program was given in the morning for the pupils of the school and in the evening was largely attended by the public.

Health Nurses

Mrs. Geoffrey J. Fleming and Mrs. Bessie B. Miller attended the regular monthly meeting of the Riverside and San Bernardino Counties Public Health Nurses' Association Wednesday afternoon in San Bernardino.

The program was featured by a talk on "Nutrition" by Mrs. Hossington of the State Board of Health, and high and grammar school pupils gave entertaining numbers.

Mrs. J. J. Suess of Redlands, chairman of the County Welfare Commission, invited members of the Association to meet with her for dinner next month.

RAINMAKER TELLS CAUSE OF DROUTH

Hatfield, the rain-maker, is among us; the Orange Show, which usually brings a storm of some sort, is on; and if this combination won't produce rain drops, what will?

"Hatfield the Rainmaker" was en route to Yuma yesterday and stated that the cause of the unusual dry spell now keenly felt in Southern California is the continued high barometric pressure, which prevents the condensation of moisture. He stated that if this pressure could be lowered, rainfall could be brought agout.

If No Rain, There is No Pay

Mr. Hatfield has a standing offer to produce rainfall in any community or region with the expression, "No rain, no pay," as his motto. It is his custom to erect a large and complicated apparatus which, he says, causes the moisture in the air to condense—meaning rainfall.

"The humidity is about 30 or 40 tonight," said the rainmaker last night. "That isn't high, but it's enough to get rain."

Mr. Hatfield was engaged by the city government of San Diego to fill the Morena Reservoir in 1916, which he did. The county was suffering from unusual drought and the reservoir had a capacity of several million gallons. It had never been filled, Hatfield said, until he used his machine.

The rainmaker also was hired by Hemet, San Jacinto and adjoining communities 12 years ago to get rain. He said he was successful there. It is claimed that Hatfield got seven inches of rain in two months in that region.

Would Help Entire Valley

The rainmaker claims that his rains are not local, however, but general, once he gets the clouds weeping.

He claims that at a small expense, rainfall worth millions to farmers can be produced without fail. At least it costs nothing to try, he concludes.

Mr. Hatfield went back into newspaper files of 20 years ago to show that he had been employed by Los Angeles merchants in the winter of 1904 to produce rain. He says he was a success then and has been ever since. In all, Hatfield claims that he has produced rain under 23 separate contracts ranging in localties from San Diego to Alaska.

At the combined noon luncheon yesterday of the Rotary Club of Upland, the Rotary Club of Ontario and the Lions Club of Ontario, John D. Howe, in behalf of the Upland Rotary Club, challenged the winner of today's game to a match. Lion Trautman, although his club hadn't yet won the match, accepted the challenge, and Upland Rotarians are going out for rehearsal from now on getting ready for the big contest.

AMERICAN CARS ARE DOMINATING FOREIGN MARKETS

NUMBER OF AMERICAN MOTOR VEHICLES EXPORTED IN 1923 GREATEST EVER

The ability to produce quality cars on a quantity basis is the underlying reason why the United States leads the nations of the world in the manufacture of automobiles. American cars, with few exceptions, compete successfully with the automobiles of the country into which they are shipped, and even in one or two countries where, seriously handicapped by high import duties, many American cars are sold.

Nearly 84 per cent of all the motor vehicles registered in the world in 1922 were manufactured in this country. Although final figures are not yet available it is conservative to say that, with the large increase in American automobile production in 1923, approximately 90 per cent of all automobiles now registered in the world have been made in the United States.

American exports of motor vehicles in 1922 represented 40 per cent of the entire production of motor vehicles by all other countries in the world for the same year. American exports in that year were 78,234—more than doubling those of the previous year—and figures for 1923 will show a large increase over 1922.

American cars enjoy many advanced features of construction which make them more serviceable and satisfactory to operate.

American Service Simplified

They are built along the same general lines, first of all, and can be easily understood and repaired by mechanics. European cars, on the oteh rhand '4037 2463|' srhd the other hand, do not conform with any basic standard, and as a result "freak" cars appear on the foreign markets. This, of course, makes it difficult to obtain service.

European cars do not have as much reserve power as the average American automobile. Where the Studebaker Light Six has an R.A.C. rating of 23.4 h.p., the greatest number of English and French cars have only from 5 to 15 h.p. Because of their small motors, the majority of European cars are equipped with four speeds forward, instead of three, with the result that the driver must shift from fourth to third speed in order to climb the most ordinary hill. This fact, and the added flexibility of American-made motors, add favor to American cars in the markets abroad.

Some time ago European cars could be operated with lower gasoline consumption, due to the smallness of the motors, but automotive engineers in this country have almost completely offset even this temporary European advantage by decreasing the fuel consumption required by the powerful American-made cars.

Generally speaking, European automobiles have lower road clearance than American cars. This is of little importance in England or France, where highways are improved, but it is a decided disadvantage, for example, when cars must negotiate the rugged roads of Australia or South Africa.

Adopt American Methods

European manufacturers, producing only a limited number of cars a day, must sell their products for prices greatly in excess of those of the American manufacturer with a capacity of hundreds of cars daily.

An European car, selling for an equivalent of $1,500, does not compare in intrinsic value with an American car at the same price, because in the manufacture of foreign cars many costs, such as excessive overhead per car, expense of complicated sales, etc., have to be absorbed.

Some foreign manufacturers are increasing their capacity and are adopting American large-production methods, because by operating on a smaller basis they have not been able to meet the prices and quality of American cars. Moreover, they realize that the repetition of the same operation many times tends towards greater precision and skill in the worker and consequently results in a higher degree of accuracy and quality in the product itself.

With the long experience, manufacturing skill and highly-developed methods of the automobile manufacturers in this country, American cars will continue to grow in importance in the markets of the world. In fact, the United States has its greatest era of foreign automobile business ahead.

BY-PRODUCTS EXHIBITS ARE HIGH CLASS

Revelation To All Thinking Lemon Pie Only Citrus Fruit Product

Exhibits in the by-products department of the Fourteenth National Orange Show would indicate that citrus fruits can be used as the base for almost a complete menu and diet. Exhibits include all kinds of jellies, marmalades, candies, cakes, pies, and tempting viands, even to orange bread.

Displays are unusually good this year and are elaborately gotten up and arranged. Among those who entered exhibits are noted United States Indian Service, Indian School, Sherman Institute, Current Events Club of Ontario, San Bernardino Woman's Club, San Bernardino High School, Riverside Girl Scouts, Redlands Woman's Relief Corps, San Bernardino Woman's Relief Corps, Mexican pupils of Ramona School, City Federation of P. T. A. of San Bernardino, Redlands High School and Rialto Woman's Club.

The most of these exhibits are very pretentions and are elaborately prepared and displayed in most attractive manner with beautiful cases and in elegant form.

Students Exhibit Candies

Redlands High School lists its candies made with citrus foundation: orange maple fondant, lemon fondant, marzipan orange, orange pralines, orange chocolate caramels, chocolate creams with citrus flavor, orange burnt almonds, orange blossom cornballs, orange jelly popcorn, orange after-dinner mints, orange cornflake kisses, orange puffs, orange grilled nuts, frosted gumdrops with citrus flavors, orange honey kiss-me-quick, orange syrup bakets, orange Parisian sweets, orange divinity, lemon divinity, grapefruit divinity, clear citrus fruit drops, orange violets. Some of the other goodies listed are orange apples, candied citrus peels, glaced citrus peels, glaced citrus fruits, citrus juice bon-bon baskets,, orange conserve grapefruit moonshine, blood orange jelly, citrus, grapefruit, tangerine, orange, blackberry, lemon, cherry and lime jellies, orange and lemon marmalade, strawberry jelly, carrot marmalade, plum jelly, mandarin marmalade, candied orange peel, candied lemon peel.

Big thick pies from citrus fruits, fancy cakes of all kinds, and forms, some in shapes of butterflies and very tempting looking are exhibited.

Birthday Cake Shown

The San Bernardino High School exhibit is a mighty fine one, including over 150 glasses of jellies and marmalades. It also has orange bread and a fine Orange Show birthday cake with 14 candles on it.

Rialto Woman's Club exhibit is very attractive and was placed by a committee composed of Mrs. Raymond E Hodge, Mrs. Floyd Mills, Mrs. John Cox, and F. M. Lingo. The display is placed in a lattice work design with a lovely setting of artificial iris and smilax, set off by a large mirror. The show case is an artistic background for the golden marmalades and other orange by-products produced by the Rialto ladies.

One is particularly impressed with the extraordinary art that accompanies the by-product exhibits. In addition to the clubs and organizations making exhibits, there are some by individual ladies, which are also of a high class of skill and demonstrate superior ability and skill in the culinary line. The wide latitude of displays impresses one with the great possibilities of citrus fruits in the menu as they are used as a basis or merely in conjunction with other elements, to impart a flavor that is delightful To the average person viewing the by-products department, the display is a revelation as many easterners' ideas of citrus fruits' part in cookery is confined to lemon pie.

The increase in the number of telephones in the United States during 1921 was greater than the increase in the number of telephones in all the rest of the world combined.

LAW PROFESSOR AT POMONA COLLEGE

Dr. George Grafton Wilson, Professor of International Law since 1910 at Harvard University, is now in Claremont as Harvard Exchange Professor at Pomona College. Dr. Wilson will be at Pomona until March 18th. He will give two series of lectures before classes of the college, one at 7:30 a.m., Tuesdays, Fridays and Saturdays in the Library Building, speaking on International Law. The other series will be given in Room 1 at Holmes Hall, at 9:15 a.m., Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, on the United States and International Relations. While these lectures are somewhat technical and prepared more especially for students, the public will be admitted so far as the capacity of the room warrants.

Dr. Wilson will also give a series of three evening lectures in Holmes Hall at 8 p.m., beginning on Thursday, February 28. His subject that night will be "The Physical Background of World Politics." This lecture will be illustrated by a series of charts which Dr. Wilson has prepared with much labor and study. On Thursday, March 6, he will speak on "The United States and World Politics." This lecture will deal with the Disarmament Conference held in Washington, from the standpoint of intimate personal knowledge, as Dr. Wilson was the legal advisor of the United States Government during this conference and also has been for twenty years Professor of International Law at the U. S. Naval Academy. On March 13 his subject will be "Recent European Readjustments." Dr. Wilson's knowledge of the present situation in Europe is perhaps unsurpassed by any public man in America. He has just recently returned from Europe, where he was a lecturer at the opening session of the Academy of International Law at The Hague.

These three lectures on the general topic of "World Politics" will be open to all, and it is hoped that the general public, not only in Claremont but of the surrounding communities, who are interested in the great question of international relations, will avail themselves of this opportunity to hear one of the outstanding authorities upon the present world situation.

RICHARDSON HAS WONDER RANCH

Government experts, who have made a thorough survey of water conditions in this locality and the west mesa, state that these springs are the result of underground streams supplied by the north slope of Old Baldy and surrounding mountains.

Water Supply Never Fails

Mr. Turner has lived on this property for 40 years, his father having acquired it by purchase and homesteading when the younger man was still a very small boy. He states that the flow from such of the springs as they are utilizing in the operation of the ranch has never shown any appreciable variation, whether seasons were dry or wet having no apparent effect. This is believed due to the distance which the water travels through underground strata, before finding this outlet.

It is Mr. Turner's opinion that the present supply of water on this property can be doubled or trebled by opening up the springs not now being used and piping this water to the reservoir. There is every indication that the water which can be developed from these springs and which is not now being utilized will be an important addition to the Adelanto Water Company's present system, which is now being supplied from local wells.

Adelanto, a desert waste 12 years ago, is now a thriving community with a score of prosperous families. There are now approximately 300 acres under cultivation and plans under way for reclaiming more of the territory.
